

WILD WONDER

Set against the desolate beauty of Namibia's highest mountain, Onduli Ridge brings a little luxe to the wilds of Damaraland.

Boasting just six intimate suites, Onduli Ridge is the newest luxury safari camp to open in the heart of the Namibian wilderness. Created by Ultimate Safaris, the new camp seamlessly blends architecture and nature while blurring the lines between the indoors and outdoors.

Named after the resident giraffe in the area, the camp is built at the base of two granite outcrops, allowing for magnificent views of Namibia's highest mountain, the Brandberg, to the south and the dispersed cathedral-like granite landscape to the north. After days spent tracking desert-adapted elephant, giraffe and rhino populations or exploring on e-bikes, guests can return to their suite, which features semi outdoor bathrooms with petrified wooden washbasins and large beds that can be rolled out so guests can sleep beneath the stars on their private deck. ultimatesafaris.na - NICK WALTON